

WATCH WITH KRISTIN

It's more fun than doing it alone

Michael in Miami: Sylar is back on Heroes! What's the dirt?

I know, hurrah! All I can say is he's not what he appears to be in those Corona-commercial-esque scenes you've seen. Gaa! By the by, I went to a very cool event on Friday hosted by Sylar himself, Zachary Quinto, and almost all the Heroes and a few HIMYM stars were there—good times. I chatted up Kristen Bell for a good while, and she told me she's madly in love with her new Heroes costars because, "They are as mean as they are ugly." Awwwww...esome, right? Kristen is clearly one of the gang now, and I wouldn't be surprised if she stuck around much longer on Heroes...i.e., full time. Meanwhile, I highly advise that you check out the art exhibit if you're in the L.A. area any weekend from now until Nov. 4.

"Hollywood Most Wanted" is artist Rachel Schmeidler's (she went to college with Zachary) Warholian look at celebrities via mug shots of the likes of Paris, Nicole, Anna Nicole, Elvis, etc. (which are all public domain). Email info@hollywoodmostwanted.com for details.

